Exercise #4: Bootstrap

Profile page with Accordion

- This exercise is a competition among all the project groups.
- You will be working as a group to complete this exercise.
- You must create the "Hayao Miyazaki Profile" page, as shown in the next slide
 - The page MUST be created using Bootstrap.
 - Use only the topics that were covered in the lecture
 - You are free to use CSS to make the page visually more attractive.
- IMPORTANT: Create an Accordion. Try to be creative.
- The page MUST be responsive.
- Do not use any AI tool to generate your code. DO IT YOURSELF. I WILL CHECK.
 - AI can be used for help, when you are stuck, but you MUST state in your code where and why you used it.
- The winner of the competition will be announced after the holidays.

Make a very creative Accordion here

How I will evaluate

- I will first evaluate if the page has all the parts as shown in the previous slide
- Then I will evaluate the creativity in your Accordion.
 - If I like both the above, then I will look at the code to make sure all the rules were followed
 - If I find any BS concept that was not part of the lecture, then that submission will not be included in the competition
 - If I suspect AI was used in coding, then I will enquire further, and everyone in the suspected group may end up getting -5 points.

Submission Instructions

Submission

- Follow the same process as before.
 - Committ and push your code in GitHub
 - Host it on GitHub Pages to produce your own github.io link
 - Submit that link in Moodle's Exercise #4: Bootstrap submission box
- Only one member from every group submits
- IMPORTANT: When submitting, state the name of your group and all the members' names
- Deadline: Tomorrow, April 29, 12:00 PM (Noon)

That's all for this exercise
